

Where's Dinner?

"Toothed whales" have sharp teeth that they use to catch a tasty dinner of fish or squid. But first they have to find their food! These whales send out a special kind of sound, and listen for the echoes that bounce back to them. These three whales have each sent out a sound.

ADD the numbers in the shaded path from the whale to the fish.

SUBTRACT the numbers on the unshaded path on the way back.

The whale with the lowest number is closest to eating dinner. He's the winner!

Narwhal

Beluga

What did the sperm whale say to the dolphin who splashed him?

You did that on purpose!

Killer whale

Who's a Whale?

There is a very familiar ocean mammal that you will be surprised to find is a toothed whale.

Add the missing lines to spell his name!

Where's Dinner?

