

Oodles of Noodles

How many different types of pasta can you think of? Most kids would name macaroni, spaghetti, ravioli, and lasagna. Well, keep going— there are over 400 kinds of fresh and dried pasta! That's a pretty big selection, especially when you think that most pasta is made from a simple paste of flour and water.

Follow the strands of linguini over and under to see which kid gets which meatball.

Would you ever eat "little ears"? How about "grape seeds," "radiators," or "mustaches"? You might—these are all names for different shapes of pasta!
